

WHY WORKSPACE DIGITAL?

BOS has created thousands of inspiring workspaces for clients all over North America. For over 70 years we've applied our experience and expertise to designing, furnishing and installing great places to work. We've come to understand that our client's aren't just looking for chairs and desks... but that they have more conceptual needs. To promote their work culture. To attract and retain talent. To foster collaboration... increase connectivity... encouraged engagement... to ultimate drive performance and success for their organizations.

A well-designed and strategic investment in physical space will help achieve these needs. But in the modern workplace, there is also significant opportunity in the digital space.

To build on our promise of delivering a 360° Experience to our clients... where every element of the move and procurement process is done, in-house, by our team of employee owners... we launched Workspace Digital.... A full service technology integration division and digital marketing agency.

We can now take care of your entire space... both physical and digital... and ensure that you maximize your total space investment... that it is aligned, connected and optimized to meet your companies needs.

From connectivity to control, room scheduling to wireless power, collaborative tools to video conferencing, digital signage to digital check in, sound masking to sensing... our technology offering is comprehensive... with straight forward, competitive pricing and solutions we've fully vetted in our own locations. As a furniture-savy AV company... we are best able to ensure your technology investment seamlessly aligns with your workspace.

And our agency solutions exist to help you recognize all the intangible opportunities in the digital space. From website design to video content, culture promotion to change communication, content for digital signage display to digital consulting, brand identity to help deciding what to put on your walls... our marketing and digital media specialists are ready to go to work for you. We can fully manage your needs or supplement your current team!
